

Dear Sirs,

Hello, my name is Linda Zervos. My husband, John Zervos and our two children, age 9, live on Vanderhorst St. I have lived on Vanderhorst St. for almost 14 years.

Last semester, as I was driving on Vanderhorst Street, I noticed a group of young men with trash bags picking up trash along the street. It was so exciting to see a fraternity from the College of Charleston working to improve life in my neighborhood. I stopped my car and thanked them and asked who they were. Peter Neiger and his brothers from Phi Gamma Delta fraternity at the College of Charleston were volunteering to clean up Radcliffeborough. This is the first time that I have ever known of this happening in my neighborhood. Most of my neighbors are students at the CofC.

Please recognize this fraternity and its members. I called Keep Charleston Beautiful and gave them Peter's name in order to brag on them and Greek Life. I hope that the College and Greek Life would support this community involvement, especially due to the impact of the CofC students on the neighborhoods where they reside. Looking at the whole student, academics as well as responsible citizenship will improve the students' life and CofC's reputation as a nurturer of its students and their neighbors.

If there is anything I can do to improve my neighborhood or relations with students and Charleston residents, please do not hesitate to contact me. Thank you.

Sincerely,

Linda Zervos
